Subject: Federal Safety Hazard Regulation #1910.1200(g)

BRP Manufacturing Co. is not a manufacturer, distributor, or importer of chemicals as outlined in the subject regulation and is not required to provide SDSs for the products of our manufacture. The products as supplied by BRP are defined as articles and therefore not subject to SDS requirements.

To further define, "article" means a manufactured item which is:

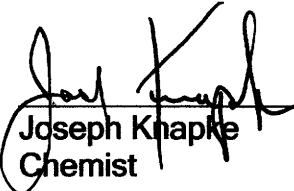

- 1) formed to be a specific shape or design during manufacture,
- 2) has end use functions dependent in whole or part upon its shape or design during use, or
- 3) does not relate or otherwise result in a hazardous chemical under normal conditions of use.

The products which we manufacture for your company are considered "articles" and, therefore, do not fall under the guidelines of this regulation.

If you have any further questions, please feel free to contact BRP Manufacturing Company.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Joseph Knapke
Chemist
